David Olive: Greetings All

Ching Chiao: hello everyone

Han Chuan Lee: Good day everyone!

Wendy Seltzer: I apologize that I can't make the call. Reading along as I can.

Jonathan Robinson (Registries SG): I am here and on audio. My mute button is sticky today.

Bill Drake: FWIW I have about 75 minutes and will then disappear

Wolf Knoblen: Bill, your spirit will stay with us

Joy Liddicoat: Hi all

David Taylor: @Jonathann thats what you get eating your lunch while muting.

Oswaldo Novoa: Sorry I'm late, got delayed in another meeting.

Bill Drake: W-U: The request was sent prior to the meeting, just not seen

Glen de Saint Gery: Jennifer Wolfe, the NomCom appointee has just joined the call

Jeff Neuman: Welcome Jennifer!

Marika Konings: @ Mikey - you should have control now

Stéphane Van Gelder: Thx Glen. Welcome Jennifer

Brian Winterfeldt: We said one! Not zero!

Brian Winterfeldt: :)

John Berard: A modest sacrifice at the alter of hyperbole

John Berard: altar, of cours

Jeff Neuman: Sorry Brian :)

John Berard: of course, of course

Brian Winterfeldt: No problem Jeff and well said John.

Thomas Rickert: Sorry my line was cut. Can I have a dial-out again???

Thomas Rickert: Back on the call

Thomas Rickert: Can anybody refresh my memory as to how many registrars engage in such business practice?

Mason Cole: thomas, one in particular is well known

Mason Cole: there are one or two others from time to time that try this

Thomas Rickert: Thanks, Mason!

Thomas Rickert: Do we know when their accreditation agreements are up for renewal?

Mason Cole: i don't...we usually don't discuss each others' contracts

Jonathan Robinson (Registries SG): ICANN surely should!

Joy Liddicoat: Agree with that approach Stephane

Thomas Rickert: I will follow up with you later.

Alan Greenberg: If I remember correctly, when the 2009 RAA was approved, there was a list posted of registrars and when their renewal dates were. If that registrar never went to the new RAA, that date would still apply. If they did, you could estimate their new date.

Thomas Rickert: Thanks, Alan! It might be worthwhile looking at that closer as I think it would be unfortunate to invest huge resources to address an issue that only occurs with a handful of registrars.

Thomas Rickert: Jeff +1

Alan Greenberg: @Jeff, I wasn't saying we should propose a new structure, just that we should wave the flag that there are potential problems.

Jeff Neuman: I understand, but don't want that flag waved because I do not see any potential problems

Jeff Neuman: (the only problems I see are with my spelling :))

Alan Greenberg: Given that I almost "waived" the flag, I can sympathize.

Alan Greenberg: almost...

Wolf Knoben: the problems are not potential...

Thomas Rickert: I was cut off again ...Can you please dial-out to me?

Jeff Neuman: @wolf - There may be issues to consider...but that is very different than calling them "problems". The RySG has already considered the issues and believes it has addressed them

Wolf Knoben: council workload is on the Toronto agenda first

Jeff Neuman: This is Stephane's last phone meeting!!!

Wolf Knoben: Consumer Metrics is on the Toronto agenda

Jeff Neuman: Thanks Stephane!

Joy Liddicoat: i think we should start the Toronto meeting where we left off last time

Joy Liddicoat: thanks Stephane - tremendous

Brian Winterfeldt: Thank you Stephane!

Stéphane Van Gelder: thx everyone

Wolf Knoben: Joy, where did we left off?
